

FACILITIES AND LABORATORIES

The PhD Programme in Economic Law provides its candidates with access to advanced language laboratories and well-equipped study areas featuring computer workstations. These facilities are designed to support both individual and collaborative research, offering an environment conducive to in-depth scientific inquiry. Doctoral candidates also benefit from digital tools and resources essential for legal analysis, within a context that fosters interdisciplinarity and innovation.